

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE FOR THE YEAR 1890.

January, 1891.

MEMBERS OF THE ACADEMY :

The success attending the organization and development of our Society has been very unusual. The active work of the Academy has been under way only about ten months, since little was done until after the middle of March, 1890. At present we have over 1600 members scattered through every state in the Union and in all the leading foreign countries.*

The members of the Academy may well feel that they are contributing to the support of a good work—one which is destined to be of great usefulness in many different directions. The existence of the Academy has stimulated general interest in the great field of Political and Social Science. It has greatly strengthened the hands of earnest scholars in this department, many of whom are at work under difficult conditions and in widely separated places. It has not only provided an opportunity for the publication of much valuable matter which would not otherwise have seen the light, but it has encouraged original investigation along many important lines, and upon many important topics which have received hitherto but little attention.

Five scientific sessions have been held in Philadelphia, at which many valuable papers were presented and some of them read and discussed. European as well as American scholars have submitted papers or signified their intention of doing so. Among these may be mentioned Prof. Boehm-Bawerk, the distinguished Austrian economist ; Mr. Ritchie, of Jesus College, Oxford ; Prof. Gide, of France ; Prof. Loria, of Italy ; Prof. Scharling, of Copenhagen ; Prof. Conrad, of Halle, etc.

* For the present number of members and geographical distribution in detail, see Tabulated Statements, p. 10.

The work of publication is not so far along as we had hoped, owing to the obstacles which nearly all new enterprises encounter. These are, however, now adjusted, and it is hoped will not recur in the future.

Three numbers of the Annals have appeared up to the present. The Fourth number will appear in April. A supplement was sent out with the January number, containing a memoir of Hon. John A. Jameson, one of our General Advisory Committee, to whose counsel and assistance the Academy owes much. An address by Dr. John S. Billings, of Washington, on Municipal Government and Public Health, was also recently sent to members. The foregoing, together with two supplements soon to be issued, embracing in all nearly a thousand pages of printed matter, will constitute the first volume of the Proceedings.

After the completion of the first volume it is proposed to issue the Proceedings in the form of a Bi-monthly instead of a Quarterly.

Among the features of the Annals which have attracted wide attention at home and abroad may be mentioned :

1. The Personal Department, in which the personal facts relating to the scientific workers in the field are chronicled with a completeness not attempted in any other publication.

2. The Papers on Instruction in Political and Social Science, which for the first time in the history of these sciences attempt to present the facts as to methods, places, number and duration of lecture courses and number of instructors—in a word, whatever is necessary to convey an adequate idea of what instruction is given in the different educational centers of the world.

3. The Articles on the Railroad Question, which record from time to time the important economic and social facts relating to the great railway systems and policies of the world, and should appeal not merely to students of the railroad question, and to practical railroad managers, but also to every one interested in the social and economic effects of modern transportation systems.

4. The Papers on the Theoretical Aspects of Political and Economic Science, which aim to give an account of the course of thought on these topics in the different countries in the world.

5. The articles on important topics relating to General Jurisprudence and Constitutional Law of our own and foreign countries, which ought to interest all thoughtful lawyers.

6. Original Documents, such as Laws, etc., etc.

The Academy will shortly issue a translation of Professor Meitzen's great work on Statistics, by which a valuable addition will be made to our English Literature on this important subject.

At an early date will also be issued a Translation of the Text of the Mexican Constitution, by Professor Moses, of the University of California; of the Constitution of France, by Professor Cohn, of Harvard University; of that of Belgium, by Mr. Francis B. Lee, of Trenton, and of that of Prussia. Other translations of similar documents will follow these.

The work of the Academy is entirely dependent upon the contributions of its members. The larger our funds the more we can accomplish, and our members are respectfully urged to keep the Academy in mind and to present its claims for consideration to their friends and acquaintances.

It is very desirable that prizes be established, and that funds be placed at the disposal of the Academy to aid in the encouragement of investigation.

A charter has been applied for and will shortly be obtained, which will authorize the Academy to receive and hold in trust any funds which may be given it for these and similar purposes.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE,

EDMUND J. JAMES, Chairman.

THE AMERICAN ACADEMY

OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE.

CONSTITUTION.

ART. I.

Name.

This Association shall be known as The American Academy of Political and Social Science.

ART. II.

Object.

The object of the Academy is the promotion of the political and social sciences in the comprehensive sense of those terms.

With no intention of excluding other suitable means, the following methods may be enumerated as of special importance in furthering the ends of the Society :

1. Accumulation of a library of works pertaining to the subjects cultivated by the Academy, and, in general, the provision of facilities for research.

2. Encouragement of investigation by the offering of prizes for specified contributions to science, and by extending pecuniary aid in suitable cases to students and investigators.

3. Publication of valuable papers and reports presented to the Academy either by members or others.

4. Regular meetings for the presentation and discussion of papers and other contributions to political and social science.

5. Dissemination of political and economic knowledge throughout the community by the establishment of public lecture courses in political and social science, and by such other means as may from time to time seem expedient.

ART. III.

The Academy shall consist of a Council and members, the former to be chosen from the latter.

ART. IV.

Any person may become a member of the Academy who having been proposed by a member shall be approved by the Council.

The fees of the members shall be fixed by the Council.

The Council may by a majority vote of all members create new forms of membership at discretion.

Members shall be entitled to receive the regular reports of the proceedings of the Academy ; and to such other privileges as the Constitution and By-Laws of the Academy may confer upon them.

ART. V.

The Council.

The Council shall consist of at least ten members, chosen in the first instance by the Academy. It shall be authorized to enlarge its number at pleasure and to fill all vacancies : provided that no person shall be chosen a Councilor who is not known to be actively interested in the promotion of some phase of political or social science, either in a theoretical or practical way : and provided further, that at least one-fifth of the Council shall be renewed each year, retiring members being re-eligible indefinitely.

To the Council shall be committed the control and management of the business and interests of the Academy, subject only to the restrictions of this Constitution. It shall choose its own officers and committees, determining their number and functions, such officers and committees being ex-officio the officers and committees of the Academy.

The Council shall make each year a report of its proceedings to the Academy, and may request the co-operation of members and others in the work of the Academy.

The Council shall be authorized to make all necessary rules and regulations for the conduct of the Academy, not in conflict with this instrument.

Any member or Councilor may be struck from the list if more than three months in arrear for the annual fee or other fees levied by the Academy ; provided that at least two notices shall have been sent that such fee or fees are due.

Any Councilor may be expelled from the Academy by a majority vote of all members of the Council ; provided that printed notice be given to each member at least one month beforehand of intention to make such motion.

ART. VI.

Amendments.

Amendments to this Constitution may be made when proposed by a majority of all the Councilors and approved by a majority of all the members present at any regular meeting ; provided that the number present shall be at least one-tenth of all the members, and provided further that a notice of such proposed amendment shall have been given at the preceding regular meeting, and a printed copy sent to each member at least one month before such voting.

BY-LAWS OF THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE.

1. The officers of the Council shall be a President, three Vice-Presidents, three Secretaries—entitled respectively Recording, Corresponding and General—a Treasurer, and a Librarian.

2. They shall be chosen for one year and hold office until their successors are duly qualified.

3. Their duties shall be such as are usually assigned to such officers, subject to qualification and definition by the Council.

4. The officers of the Council, together with such members as may be chosen by the Council for one year, shall constitute an Executive Committee, with such powers as may be entrusted to it by the Council.

5. No money shall be drawn from the treasury except on order of the Executive Committee or Council, countersigned by the recording secretary, who shall keep a list of such orders, their date, amounts and payees.

6. Changes may be made in these by-laws at any regular meeting of the Council by a majority of those present.

7. Any one may become a life member by the payment of $100 at one time ; and a patron by the payment of $500 at one time ; and both life members and patrons shall be exempt from the payment of annual fees, and shall be entitled to all the privileges of members.

8. Ten members of the Council shall constitute a quorum at any regular meeting of the Council.

THE WORKS OF

PROF. SIMON N. PATTEN, PH. D.,

Of the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Simon N. Patten is one of the few original thinkers of this generation. His work shows at every point a keenness and insight which is characteristic only of minds of the first order. His contributions to Economics have not been numerous or bulky, but they have the rarer quality of marking real advances in the science. Besides a number of monographs, published in the series of the American Economic Association, and in the series for Political Economy and Public Law of the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Patten is the author of two works noticed below, which have attracted marked attention from the best authorities in the field of Economics. He has also contributed numerous articles to our reviews, notably to the "Political Science Quarterly," the "Quarterly Journal of Economics," and the "ANNALS OF THE AMERICAN ACADEMY."

The Premises of Political Economy.

12mo. Cloth, $1.00.

"A modest but powerful treatise. In its line, it is one of the marked books of the season, and to the student of deep and vital questions of economics it must be highly valuable."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"Dr. Patten is a profound thinker, a close reasoner, and a very clear writer. He discards the dogmas of Ricardo and other antiquated authorities, and studies economic science according to the needs and ideas of the modern world. His chapter on 'Free Trade' is a striking one which Americans may study with advantage."—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

The Economic Basis of Protection.

"Prof. Patten is an ingenious advocate and his book is worth reading. There can be no doubt that he really believes what he says and that he is presenting the case of protection, not as a special pleader hired to believe his client's side of the case; but as an earnest, enthusiastic volunteer, who argues as he does because he believes that the principles which he upholds are those best adapted for the general good."—N. Y. Epoch.

"It is a valuable addition to the argument for protection, and against the system that would barter the advantages of this great country for less even than the mess of pottage."—Harrisburg Telegraph.

For sale by all Booksellers, or will be sent by the Publishers, post-paid, on receipt of price.

The Australian Ballot System.

WIGMORE'S AUSTRALIAN BALLOT SYSTEM (Second edition, cloth binding, 1890; $1.50 net) gives a history of the origin, spread, and present status, in Australia, Europe, and the United States, of this latest of political reforms. It discusses fully each of the important phases of the system and the different methods of its application. It is an interesting and valuable work to all thoughtful citizens, either where the new system is under discussion, or where it has been adopted and is on trial.

Extradition and Rendition.

Not only the subject of International Extradition, but also the more complicated and less settled subject of the Rendition of fugitives from justice as between the States of our Union, is ably, exhaustively and authoritatively treated by HON. JOHN BASSETT MOORE, third assistant Secretary of State, at Washington, in his recent work, entitled MOORE ON EXTRADITION AND RENDITION. (2 vols., law sheep, $12.00 net.)

A Book for Schools and General Reading.

AN INTRODUCTION TO Political Economy.

BY

RICHARD T. ELY, Ph. D.,

Associate Professor of Political Economy, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.

This is no ponderous treatise, hard to read, and fit only for scholars; it is a straightforward business-like book, descriptive of the most practical of the sciences. Political economy deals with every-day matters. Its problems interest every citizen. They underlie good government and industrial prosperity. In its province are Production, Trade, Money, Credit, Tariffs, Taxes, Wages, Rent, Trades Unions, Socialism, Monopolies, and Trusts. Dr. Ely's volume is recognized as the best introduction to the study of this science. It is equally valuable for reading or as a text-book.

"It is, I think, the best elementary economic treatise which I have read. How clear and simple it is!"—Emile de Laveleye, Professor of Political Economy, University of Liege, Belgium.

"I think I can use it better than any other as an introduction to economic studies."—Edward W. Bemis, Professor of Political Science, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.

"I have used it in college classes and have watched the use by one of my associates of Professor Ely's Introduction to Political Economy. The work not only enables, but almost compels, the instructor using it to fulfill the author's design of revealing to the students the genuineness and timeliness of the questions which political economy confronts, and it points out the only scientific method of investigating those problems. I can do better work with this volume than with any other which has yet appeared."—Albion W. Small, President of Colby University.

"It gives me pleasure to state that I like the book better on the whole than any I have used in my twenty years' experience as a teacher of political economy. I like it better because it recognizes vital questions of the day and does not ignore the dynamics of the science. . . . I can testify that no other branch of study ever awakens such a general and thorough interest among girls."—Miss Jane M. Slocum, Vice-President of the Granger Place School (for young Ladies), Canandaigua, N. Y.

NEW

LIBERTY AND LIFE

Seventeen discourses by E. P. POWELL, on the applications of scientific truth to morals and religion. Some of the titles of the separate lectures are: Life and Death, what they are; Sinning against the Holy Spirit; A Sound Mind in a Sound Body; The True Life; The Doing Creed; A Substitute for Orthodoxy; Character; The Religion of the Future.

Buffalo Express :—One must go far before finding more incentive to break loose from the habit most of us have of letting other people do our thinking for us, than there is in LIBERTY AND LIFE. Its author is earnest, honest and interesting.

Albany Argus :—The style is clear and forcible, and the author shows himself abreast of modern thought.

Oberlin Review :—If there is any helpful inspiration to be given by one who denies the personality of God, and adores "the working force of the Universe," of which "man is the factor," in his stead, this book gives that inspiration.

Baltimore American :—While there are very many poignant truths in this work, there are many views advanced which to the young, undeveloped mind may prove dangerous.

Saturday Herald :—Mr. Powell writes with power. He has a clear, strong style. He is a man of war, but as he says, he does not fight religion; only theology.

Literary World :—Strong, even, bold essays on ethical and religious subjects. They are the work of a man of vigorous intellect who has studied the doctrine of evolution long and carefully, and has not found it necessary to abandon all his old reverences. The discourses are full of interest to the casual reader by reason of their fund of anecdote and biographical citation, and to the seeker for religious and moral truth they offer many helps.

Christian Register :—The title of this collection of discourses well expresses the elements they reveal. They ring with liberty and are surging with life. Though the author has a deep philosophy, he is careful in his sermons not to sink into the depths of profundity, or, on the other hand, to preach over the heads of his hearers. His terse, direct, ringing sentences strike home.

One volume, crown octavo, 208 pages, Cloth, 75 cents, post-paid. A paper edition is given to any one sending a new subscription to UNITY, a weekly journal of a Religion that is Rational and a Rationalism that is Religious, with $1.00.

"The American Statesmen series had a just raison d'etre; for the biography of our past political leaders compels or induces a study of the times in which they acted, the forces with which they dealt, and the public measures of importance on which their influence was felt. . . . The series touches a very high level in all respects in Schurz's Life of Henry Clay."—Hon. D. H. CHAMBERLAIN, in the New Englander.

"The series is doing an immense service to the reading public and to the cause of history in bringing forth adequate, though brief, records of the lives of eminent men of whom the general knowledge has become vague, erroneous, or traditional."—New York Times.

THE STATE. Elements of Historical and Practical Politics.

By Woodrow Wilson, Author of Congressional Government. Cloth. 700 pages.
Price by mail, $2.00.

THIS book exhibits the actual organization and administrative practice of the chief modern governments in proper relations with the practice of governments in the past, and with the general principles of jurisprudence and politics, as these have been developed by historical criticism. It will be found interesting and instructive reading for all students of History and Politics, and a practical and valuable aid in the education of citizens.

The chapter on the Government of the United States is issued separately, under the title, "State and Federal Governments." Cloth. 130 pages. Price by mail, 65 cents.

PRINCIPLES OF POLITICAL ECONOMY.

By Charles Gide. Translated from the French. With an introduction by Prof. James Bonar.

This book is neither a primer for beginners, nor a dissertation for the learned, but a guide-book for serious students who have mastered the economic alphabet, and are feeling their way to a judgment of their own on economical subjects. In the hands of Prof. Gide, the subject is neither dismal in its conclusions, nor dull in its deliberations. In press, ready soon.

THE AMERICAN CITIZEN.

By Charles F. Dole. This book is intended for the higher grades of the grammar school, as well as high schools and academies. It contains such subjects as every boy and girl needs to know something about before leaving school. The intent is not merely to impart information, but at every step to help pupils to see the principles of good sense, justice, and friendliness on which the state rests, and especially to awaken in them a loyal moral purpose. In press, ready April.

HIGHLY COMMENDED.

THE

Working Principles of Political Economy

IN A NEW AND PRACTICAL FORM.

A Text-Book for Beginners. By S. M. Macvane, Harvard College.

Teachers contemplating the introduction, or a change of text-books on Political Economy are respectfully invited to correspond with the publishers regarding this interesting and unbiassed exposition of an attractive subject.

FRANKLIN H. GIDDINGS, Bryn Mawr College, in the "Annals of the American Academy," says: "Prof. Macvane has minimized the difficulty of mastering so much of Political Economy as he has chosen to include in this volume."

The New York Journal of Commerce says: "It is an admirable work, logical in its order, clear in its statements, and sound in its teachings. The author sweeps away in a sentence many of the mists with which not a few writers have befogged the science, and crushes into hopeless ruin the sophistries taught and defended by some of the modern writers, who put sentiment in the place of principle."

392 pages, 12mo, cloth. Price, for Introduction, $1.00. For Exchange, 60 cts.

Descriptive circulars and specimen pages will be sent on application.

THE AMERICAN ACADEMY

OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE,

Was founded at Philadelphia, December 14th, 1889. It was organized in answer to a long felt want on the part of students of economics, politics, and sociology, for a society which could do in the general field of political and social science, what similar associations here and abroad are doing for natural science.

The Academy is not limited in its membership to the United States. It is, on the contrary, international in scope, and now has members in nearly every civilized country. Any one may become a member who, being nominated by a member, is approved by the Council.

The Academy aims to be a means of bringing together the scholars of all countries and of giving them a medium for the interchange of views. It holds regular meetings at Philadelphia, at which papers and communications may be submitted by members.

The Proceedings are published in the form of a Bi-monthly Review, called the ANNALS OF THE ACADEMY, which is sent to all members of the Academy free of charge.

The Annual Fee is $5.00.

The Life Membership Fee, exempting from Annual Fees, $100.

Applications for membership should be sent:

OPINIONS OF THE ACADEMY AND ITS WORK.

"The Annals is becoming indispensable to economists."

Prof. J. B. CLARK, Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

"The periodical ranks really very high and is extremely interesting."

Prof. CARLO FERRARIS, Royal University, Padua, Italy.

"Your new venture takes an honorable place in the scientific world."

Prof. Dr. E. v. BOEHM-BAWERK, Vienna, Austria.

"Your excellent new periodical."

Prof. C. LAMPRECHT, University of Marburg, Germany.

"I am convinced that the Annals will be for Europe as well as America a valuable depository of information, and a powerful organ for the study of political and social science."

Prof. EDG. LOENING, University of Halle, Germany.

"The high scientific standing of the Annals is generally acknowledged and appreciated in Germany."

Prof. O. WARSCHAUER, Darmstadt, Germany.

"One thing I am not in doubt of, viz.: The Academy's success, and I greatly rejoice in it."

Pres. F. A. WALKER, Mass. Institute of Technology.

"The material which has thus far reached me has seemed most interesting and creditable."

Prof. F. S. PEABODY, Harvard University.

"The Annals are exceedingly interesting and valuable. The whole tone of the publication impresses one with its elevated character and unusual importance to those interested in the high range of studies and pursuits to which it is devoted."

GEO. F. MAGOUN, Ex-President of Iowa College, Grinnell, Iowa.

It is a matter of congratulation and augurs well for the future of the science, that we have found occasion to inaugurate another economic journal of a strictly scientific character.—American.

The second number of the Annals of the American Academy fully justifies its existence. It deals strongly and vitally with economic and political questions, and commands contributors of the highest rank among the new company of political scientists all the world over.—Boston Herald.

A complete analysis, impossible here, of the present number, printed with all the care which we are accustomed to, among the Anglo-Saxons, would astonish by the variety and value of its contents.—Journal de Geneve, Switzerland.

The Publications of the American Academy of Political and Social Science give excellent promise of a splendid future.—L'Universita, Bologna, Italy.

The Annals of the American Academy will outrank any similar publication in the country.—Cleveland Leader.
